ING TO MUD ON THE SPEEDWAY. Good Racing Promised at the Hohokus Fair This Week—The Kentucky Horse Breeders' Association Bars Hoppies - Stables Pre-paring for the Fall Driving Season.

The Speedway washeavy with mud yesterday morning and the brushing brigade had an enforced rest. Three or four road riders whose stables are near the great drive went up in their bike wagons, but returned in a very short time covered with sticky, yellow clay. During the afternoon the road dried out well and by 5 o'clock quite a crowd was driving there, but the horses were mostly of the short-tail class, hooked to surreys, runabouts and buggies.

F. G. Schmidt, who, while driving his Speedway crack Excellence through Central Park about six weeks ago, was wrecked by a runaway saddle horse, is now able to attend to his business. He was more seriously hurt than was at first reported. His collarbone was fractured, two or three ribs broken and severe wounds on the head nearly caused his death

The North Jersey Agricultural and Driv Association's fair begins to-morrow on grounds at Hohokus and will continue f days. Two and three light-harness races programmed for each day for purses rang from $100 to $250, and the liberal list of ent in each class guarantees good fields. in free-for-all pace on Friday Miss Mayms, B Wilkes, Merritt Wilkes, Claybourne, Peach Replica, King of Diamonds and Sir Arti

Wilkes, Merritt Wilkes, Claybourne, Peaches, Replica, King of Diamonds and Sir Arthur are entered.

Horace Wilson, secretary of the Kentucky Horac Breeders' Association, attended the Empire city meeting last week in the interests of the ten-day meeting at Lexington, beginning Oct. 2. As the Lexington meeting is practically the close of the season all the Great stables have entered. The Kentucky Association is squarely against the unsightly hopples and about the only one that could afford to bar them. Mr. wilson says that the 'Indiana pajamas' is not popular harness in Kentucky. While in New York he made arrangements with all railroads in the Trunk Line Association and the Central Passenger Association for special rates to Lexington during the meeting.

Several road wagons, carts and sulkies and harness belonging to the driving outfit of James Murphy, former owner of the world's light harness champion, Star Pointer, 1:59%, arrived at Capt. C. H. McDonald's stables on Saturday last. The horses are expected in to-day. Mr. Murphy will remain in New York during the fall driving.

Herbert Gray, manager of Thomas W. Lawson's trotting stable, who attended the Empire City meeting last week, has a strong impression that his stable has a great chance to haul down the $2,000 stablion stake at Readville with Jupe, 2:075, which Mr. Lawson recently bought from D. A. Snell.

Bert Shank, who until recently was connected with the East View Farm stable, has taken charge of the brown pacing mare Roselet, by Cleveland, dam Sally Adams, owned by J. L. Rumbarger, of Sharon Hill, Pa. She was entered for the 2:30 pace last week, but did not start.

entered for the 2:30 pace last week, but did not start.

W. F. Steel, one of the Speedway brigade, bought the roan gelding Paul Revere last Saturday at the Empire City track from Gilchrist Garth of Cortland. The roan started in the 2:11 pace on Wednesday and made a good race. He was fourth in the last three heats which were won by Art Aleo and Gyp Walnut in 2:08½, 2:08½ and 2:11. He is by Brandon, dam May Day by General Hardee. Mr. Steelswill race him during the remainder of the season and will then probably drive him on the Speedway. C. K. G. Billings has developed a great penchant for record breaking. Now that he holds the world's amateur pacing record to road wagon, with his recent purchase. Free Bond, 2:04½, he has a "hankering" for the road wagon trotting record and has sent his fast mare Lucille, unofficially timed in 2:09½ at Chicago, to Terre Haute where she will receive a chance to lower the existing figures. Mr. Billings now has ten horses at the McDonald stables and five or six at the Empire City track. He and Mr. Tucker, manager of the road distribution when the Boston yesterday afternoon. They will return to Chicago about the middle of the week. President H. H. Kane of the Road Drivers' Association has shipped his string of roadsters from Long Branch to the McDenald stables. They will be put in shape for the autumn driving on the Speedway. Dariel, Hattie L. Little Gemand the others are all looking in good shape for fast work.

Gem and the others are all looking in good shape for fast work.

New York road riders were freely criticised last week for being so poorly represented in the road wagon races at the Empire City track. In the wagon pacing there was only one New York contestant, the chestnut gelding owned by Daniel O'Dell Hontas Crooke, the winner, is owned by a Chicago road driver, and Silvermaker belongs to Mount Vernon. The three starters in the wagon trotting are all owned outside of New York Carldon belongs to DeWitt C. Flanggan of New Jersey, Franker to C. K. G. Billings of Chicago, and Zembia to A. E. Perren of Buffalo.

With Lord Derby, 2:07; Georgena, 2:0714; Bay Star, 2:08, and Boralma in the Transvivania at Lexington, to say nothing of other flyers, of that classic event.

End of the St. Lawrence County Fair.

End of the St. Lawrence County Fair.
CANTON, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Yesterday was the last day of the races at the St. Lawrence County Fair and they were the best of the meeting. There was not so large a crowd, on account of the races being put over one day. The track was in fine condition. In the sixth heat of the 2.15 pace Amelia fell down and her driver was thrown clear over her head. The next horse, Elma D., just missed the heap. He overturned his own sulky, however, and his driver, whose foot was entangled in the lines, was dragged about twenty five Yards. No serious damage was done, although Amelia went lame. Summaries:

LEXINGTON, Sept. 16.—Ten thousand colored persons from all over central Kentucky attended the colored fair yesterday, which was the closing day of the thirty-first annual meeting. The last heat of the three-minute trot produced great enthusiasm. Belgard and Tyrphena raced neck and neck from the half mile pole and passed under the wire not heads apart. It looked like a dead heat, but the judges gave their decision to Belgard. Summaries:

Bookmakers Hit Hard at Windsor. DETROIT, Sept. 16. —Vesterday's racing at the Windsor track was the most expensive of the entire meeting for the bookmakers, as the public hit them hard on every race and took over $18,000 out of the boxes. Two firms are supposed to have gone broke on the day, the combination book lost $4,300 and Wagner $4,500. While all the favorties did not land in front, yet the talent seemed to be wise in every race and picked winners without exception. Mensor was indefinitely suspended for his poor ride on Miss Shanley in the third race. Summaries:

Records of the Players of the New York and Brooklyn Clubs. With four more weeks remaining of the League season there is every indication that Billy Keeler will again lead Brooklyn players in batting. There was no change in his average last week, while Kelley added 7 points to his record. Hickman is fast moving to the top and is in fourth place on the New York's list. Sel-bach increased his lead last week and is now 17 points ahead of Davis. The records follow:

American Association Promot ers Hold a Meet ing at Baltimere. BALTIMORE, Sept. 16.—The American Assolation promoters are here hobnobbing with Robinson and McGraw, and all are confident that the organization next year will be a go. A secret meeting was held here to-day at which there were present H. D. Quinn and C. S. Havenor of Milwaukee, and J. D. O'Brien of St. Louis; Ross Klesterman, who represents an Eastern city, the name of which they would not divulge, and Phil Peterson, representing Baltimore, All were jubilant over the prospects of success for their plans. They say they have every cent needed to start the ball rolling locked up in a safe in this city. Each man came to town with a $5,000 certified check in his pocket, and they were deposited as a manifestation of good faith. The cities to be represented in the circuit are Milwaukee, Detroit, St. Louis and Chicago in the West, and Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and probably Washington in the East. Robinson and McGraw, and all are confident

LAWN TENNIS. English Comments on the Recent Intern

English comments on the recent internations lawn tennis matches at Longwood and New port, are beginning to come in, and are being read by American players with much interest Editorially the English official organ, Lawn Tennia, has this to say of the defeat: "It is just as well to look the defeat of the

Englishmen in America squarely in the face. A team which goes from England to America s handicapped in many ways-by the voyage, the want of practice on strange grounds with strange balls, which are softer than ours and equire much more hitting; by the climate, &c. But all this is inseparable from such a visit, and is known perfectly well beforehand. would be handicapped in the same way, exept that it would probably take the wise course arriving in the country long enough beorehand to get used to changed conditions. Seither English nor American players are seen quite at their best when playing in each other's ountry. It is therefore a cruel surprise for a daiting team when it is introduced to a service which it is unaccustomed, and it explains with great clearness the reason for defeat. This is quite enough. We know that our men did their level best, and that they were not good enough to win in America. To make excuses for them is quite unnecessary, for none are required

But we cannot help thinking that American lawn tennis players are in some ways very much behind the times. Their countrymen who much behind the times. Their countrymen who play cricket would scorn to use anything but the best materials and to play on wickets, which a local village in England would despise and the result is that the art of making wickets is as much a science as it is in England and Australia. But American lawn tennis players still continue to play on courts which would not be owned by the giver of a suburban garden party in England, courts which are 'hairy, badly prepared and altogether poor. They use nets which are obsolete and which do not keep the regulation height, and the balls might be vastly improved. Surely the lawn tennis players of America will not continue for long to lag so far behind their brethren who play cricket."

in a report of the international matches In a report of the international matches the same authority says:

"To English players the accounts which have appeared from time to time in American papers of the remarkable service of the three American players, M. D. Whitman, D. F. Davis and Holcombe Ward, must have seemed to be due entirely to the lively and picturesque imagination of the American reporter. We were told that Davis was a left-handed giant with a terrific service which broke away in such an alarming manner that it was fearfully difficult for a right-handed player to return it. Whitman, without being so violent in his methods, was said to have a reverse service of an awestriking kind, and Ward in a lesser degree was also most formidable. We all smiled. We had heard of that sort of thing before, and were not to be caught.

striking kind, and Ward in a lesser degree was also most formidable. We all smiled. We had heard of that sort of thing before, and were not to be caught.

"But now that our men have been most decisively beaten in the international match, and beaten, on their own admission, chiefly by their inability to return the service with any effect whatever—when they did return it at all—it is clear that the information given by the American papers has been substantially correct. On absolutely reliable authority we are able to state that the service of the Americans, especially of Davis and Whitman, took our players completely by surprise. It was quite unlike anything which they had ever seen or dreamed of, notwithstanding that they knew well that Davis, Whitman and Ward had made a specialty of the service, and were therefore on their guard. The main points about the service are its screw, spin and pace. The ball often breaks a yard, and even when it is reached with the racket the spin on it is so great that it is very difficult to make a good return. Gore falled even to touch a great many of Whitman's services. Our players all admit that they would not have believed it possible that any service could be invented which they could not return with a certain amount of ease, but that the American service was impossible. They all agree that before it could be dealt with properly a lot of practice would be required."

In the London Sportsman some one signing himself as "An Onlooker" sends a report of the international matches, during the course of which he says about the doubles:

"The American style of play was totally different from ours. Davis is left-handed, and to return his service means standing well outside the double line and playing the ball back-handed. It is impossible to drive on account of the Englishmen when this further surprise was sprung on them. Where was Barrett's forehand drive, and where was Black's splendid backhand return? Useless—absolutely useless, both of them."

The past week was the week of the year been engaged in playing for two handsome silver loving cups presented by Robert H. McCurdy, the Vice-President of the club, and for several other cups presented by the organization. The qualifying round was decided on Saturday last. There were forty entries, the first sixteen qualifying for the McCurdy cup and the next eight for the Consolation. The cards turned in were: George H. Chadwell, 79; Max Behr, 80; William Ewing, 80; Alfred Macy, 82; R. B. Duyckinck, 85; J. S. Woodward, 85; C. K. Woodward, 87; J. T. Emott. 87; R. H. The tie for sixteenth place between Merrell and Young was won by Merrell. The first round at match play resulted as follows: at match play resulted as follows:

Chadwell beat Merrell, by 6 up and 5 to play:
Duyckinck beat Behr, by 1 up; J. Macy beat Gillesple, by 3 up and 2 to play: Williams beat W. Ewing, beat C. Woodward, by 6 up and 5 to play.

The defeats of Behr and Ewing were great surprises. Ewing was 2 down with 3 to play and managed to pull up even on the last green, but the strain was too great and Williams won the deciding hole. Duyckinck was 1 down to Behr with 2 to play, but was successful by winning the last two holes. Macy's match with Jennings was also interesting, the former tying the score on the last green by holing a 15-foot put. The second round resulted as follows:

Chadwell beat Duyckinck, by 1 up pineteen holes.

Chadwell beat Duyckinck, by 1 up (nineteen holes), Williams beat J. Macy. by 3 up and 2 to play; F. Ewing beat Emott. by 4 up and 5 to play; J. Woodward beat A. Macy. by 7 up and 6 to play; ward beat A. Macy, by 7 up and 6 to play.

The first match was the best of the round, neither man being more than 1 up at any time. Chadwell took the lead at the fourteenth hole by laying Duyckinck a stymie, but the latter evened up matters at the next hole by a tenfoot put. The next hole was halved. Duyckinck won the seventeenth in a par 3, but lost the next by making a poor approach put. Chadwell won the hole, recovering from a poor drive by a fine approach shot almost stymied by a tree. The deciding hole was won by Chadwell in a par 4 after making a 220-yard drive. One match was played in the semi-final round, F. Ewing beating J. Woodward by 1 up. This result was a great surprise. The winner is only 16 years old and has come up very rapidly. This match was close. Ewing led by one or two holes most of the way, but at the seventeenth the game was even. Ewing won out pluckily on the last green. This puts him into the finals to play the winner of the Chadwell-Williams match.

The Consolation contexts resulted as follows:

play the winner of the Chadwell-Williams match.

The Consolation contests resulted as follows: Pirst Round - Van Vieck beat E. Woodward, by default; Snow beat Young, by 4 up and 3 to play; Rickard beat F. Richardson, by 2 up; Ford beat Smith, by 2 up. Second Round-Rickard beat Ford, by 4 up and 3 to play. by 4 up and 3 to play.

The club presented a trophy known as the Try Again cup, open to the eight men defeated in the first round for the McCurdy cup. In the play for this Jennings beat Bates, by 2 up, and W. Ewing beat J. Gillespie, by 1 up.

Cross-Country Running. The Shamrock Harriers opened the cross-country season yesterday with a run in the Van Cortlandt district. Runs are now scheduled to take place every Sunday afternoon, starting from the Shamrock club-house in Van Cortlandt Park at 3.30 o'clock-to which all athletes are invited. The spin yesterday was mainly on the roads, in view of the big was mainly on the roads, in view of the big 15-mile road handicap which is arranged to take place over the Jerome course on Nov. 4. The course was from the clubhouse, south on Sedgwick avenue to Morris Heights, east to Jerome avenue, then back along the avenue to Moshita Parkway, past the lake and golf links, and south along the stretch of roadway to the finish at the clubhouse. Capt. Estoppey won in the run in by ten yards from his clubmate, Schrenkelsen. Distance, nine miles. The order of finish was:

E. Estoppey, Jr. Shamrock Harriers: I. Schrenkelsen, Shamrocks; J. Lynch, P. A. C.; J. H. Kelly, P. A. C.; G. McGovern, Shamrocks; J. Dwyer, Shamrocks; Ed. Grusell, Jr., P. A. C. Time, I hour and 3 minutes.

LIC INTEREST ON EDGE. Little Likelihood of a Decisive Race Between Ballyhoo Bey and Tommy Atkins-The Three-Year-Olds Have Yet to Fight It Out

-Big List of Entries for Gravesend To-day. Public interest in racing seems to grow with the progress of the season and many debatable questions as to the merits of rival thoroughbreds are being keenly discussed without much possibility of a solution until the meeting at Morris Park. Even veteran horsemen, racegoers and form students throw up their hands when asked to name the champion of any class from the two-year-old stage to the aged divi-An American team which came to England sion. In discussing the young division, the would be handicapped in the same way, exreely expressed as to whether he is the king pin in the phenomenal bunch of two-year-olds owned by the Keenes and trained by James Rowe. Those who think a bill and if necessary would sue. he is not base their opinion on the fact that he was left in the stable while Tommy Atkins was sent out to do battle with Ballyhoo Bey in the Flatbush Stakes. Unfortunately there is little likelihood of having the question of supremacy between Ballyhoo Bey and Tommy Atkins settled. Both owners are willing, as shown by recent correspondence on the subject, but Ballyhoo Bey is still in the veterinary's care and will not be raced until fit, much as his sportsmanlike owner desires a decisive race with the best the Keene stable can turn out.

Foxhall Keene's final action in the contro versy started by himself is highly commended and there are still hopes that he may defer the shipment of Tommy Atkins to England if there is any chance of Ballyhoo Bey being ready before Morris Park closes. The race, of course, would have to be a special sweepstakes, as actual matches are not permissible, and if it cannot be brought about the ownership of the twoyear-old crown will be in greater doubt than last year, when Mesmerist and Chacornac retired without meeting.

Among the three-year-olds the situation is ust as complicated. Kilmarnock, Ildrim, Prince of Melbourne and a few others have succeeded in reaching about the same point on the ladder, but it is yet to be decided which is entitled to occupy the top rung. All this uncertainty tends to increase interest in racing if the owners will enter into the spirit of the game and fight it out to the limit.

Amateur handicappers are completely at sea as regards the relative merits of the aged division. Yesterday at the tracks there was a wide divergence of opinion on the question of consistency, as applied to the races of Imp, Ethelbert and Kinley Mack. The records show that the performances of the Brooklyn and Suburban winner have been the most consistent but when the other two are compared, it is difficult to single out the old mare as the chief offender, especially as she has been handicapped with a game leg all the season. No such excuses are forth-the season. No such excuses are forthcoming to explain Ethelbert's form, except that he has gone off or been overindulzed. In the early summer he had speed to burn and could tiptoe Jean Beraud and Imp. At Brighton Beach he outran the black mare after she had set up a new string of records to the stretch, but in his last two races he ran very poorly for a horse of his undoubted class and only seemed to strike his gait in the final furlong.

One of the prominent visitors at Gravesend for the past few days was Prince Poniatowski. He is a great enthusiast on racing and the development of the thoroughbred. The Prince has acquired a controlling interest in the Ingleside and Tanforan tracks on the Pacific coast, where he proposes to introduce several experiments for the benefit of breeders. His theory is that every breeder should retain a life interest in the racing produce of his sursery, and this leads to some jocose comment on the fact that his first deal here was to buy a gelding.

A full week's programme begins at Gravesend this afternoon. It was the original intention to have a recess on Friday, but that day is to be signalized by a benefit meeting for the Galveston sufferers. At the request of President P. J. Dwyer, Secretary McIntyre is framing a special programme on most liberal lines. Bob Pinkerton will furnish the customary staff at nominal cost, and it is said that many of the officials and jockeys intend to turn over their fees to the fund. The card for this afternoon is chiefly remarkable for the large number of entries received. Otherwise it is featureless except for an all-aged handicap at one mile and a sixteenth and the Seabreeze Stakes for three-year-olds, at the same distance. The specialties for to-morrow are the Kings Highway Handicap for three-year-olds and upward at one mile and three-quarters, over seven hurdles, and the Albemarle Stakes, with $1,000 added, for two-year-old fillies, at five furlongs. Both events are well filled and in addition the card for the day boasts of two handicaps, one for two-year-olds at about six furlongs and the other for mares of all ages at one mile and 70 yards.

The Monarch Stakes is the red-letter event for Wednesday. Its conditions provide for subscriptions of $50 each, or $20 forfeit, with $1,500 added, for three-year-olds, at one mile and a furlong. There are twenty-four candidates eligible and the allowance scale should bring out a well-matched field. Among the profinent ones likely to face the starter are McMeekin, Advance Guard, Ildrim, Gonfalon, King Bramble, Toddy, Rockton, Greenock, Waring, Sidney Lucas and Killashandra. The card for Thursday is brimful of features. It opens with a handicap for two-year-olds, at five and a half furlongs, the weights and declarations for which are due on Wednesday. A selling race leads up to the Hitchcock Steeplechase Handicap for three-year-olds and upward, over the full course, and the jumping feature will be followed by the Algeria Stakes for two-year-olds, at five furlongs, with forty-six engaged.

Saturday is one of the banner dates on the Gravesend calendar. A handicap for all ages at one mile and 70 yards is scheduled as "curtain raiser" for the Flatland Stakes of $2,000. This is a five-furlong dash for two-year-olds, at five furlong, with forty-six engaged.

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN.

Centuries Postponed Because of Rain-Champion Fenn in Trouble. Because of the pouring rain at 6 o'clock yes-erday morning two century runs were postponed. The big one was that of the Associated Cycling Clubs of New York, for which club runs and personal engagements had been laid aside by many riders and a big attendance was expected. The little run was that of the Union League Wheelmen, and some of those enlisted for this were the only ones who appeared at the Brooklyn rendezvous yesterday morning. A half a dozen wheelmen who had come from out of town to participate in the century started off to do one on their own hook. There is a possibility of legal trouble resulting from the postponement of the A. C. C. N. Y. century. hotel keeper near Jamaica had, according to agreement, arranged to furnish refreshments for 500 persons. He had all the stuff on hand and not a wheelman called for any of it. He said in the afternoon that he would present

The Automobile Club of America has accepted an invitation from the Larchmont Yacht Club to attend the annual clambake of the yachtsmen on next Satur-day, and the first run of the fall will be to Larchmont. The start will be made from Astor Court at noon.

Orlando Stevens, who was suspended with Jay Eaton a couple of months ago because of a race between the pair that was considered suspicious, returned to New York from Parls a week ago. He would not talk about the race or his suspension. He said that he would make a full and formal statement to the N. C. A. Board of Control and that it would be given out for publication. On Saturday Stevens left New York for his home at Ottumwa, Ia, without having made any statement. The significance of his actions was freely commented upon by the racing men at Vallsburg yesterday.

The annual road race of the Kings County Wheelmen was held on Saturday afternoon over a five-mile course at Baldwins, L. I. The roads were dusty and it rained at the finish of the race, but in spite of this good time was made. The two scratch men had a rare struggle all the way, John Bedell winning by a wheel's length from his fellow back-marker, George Homans. The 15-second handicap men had a similar close race for third place, but finished fifteen seconds later than the leaders. Two 50-second men finished almost together in fifth and sixth place. The order of finish was:

John Bedell, scratch, 11:59; George Homans, scratch, 11:59 1:5; Walter Smith, 15 seconds, 12:14 2:5; W. R. Brown, 15 seconds, 12:14 2:5; W. R. Brown, 15 seconds, 12:14 2:5; W. R. Brown, 15 seconds, 12:14 2:5; George W. Green, 30 seconds, 14:20 4-5.

NEWPORT, Sept. 18 - The 80-footers have Foam. losed their season's racing off Newport. There at Newport the boats sailed fifty-eight races, as compared with sixty-eight last season twenty of the number being cup races. Not only have owners of the boats offered cups, but women and men of the summer colony, who have taken a great interest in the little racers. The Wa Wa, sailed by Reginald Brooks, finished the season the champion, and she takes the Paget Average cup, won last year by the Carolina. She has been sailed in all her races by her owner, and finishes the season with thirty-three winning pennants. She has missed only four races, and her nearest rival is the Dorothy. F. F. Kelly, the Secretary of the cricket department of the Knickerbocker A. C., has issued his annual report. It shows a total of 14 games, of which 10 were won, I lost and 3 drawn. This is a creditable record and gained for the team the championship of the Metropolitan League. The averages of the team in both departments of the game were virtually led by F. F. Kelly. F. W. T. Stiles also proved successful with the bat and was the proud compiler of a "century," a feataccompilshed by only one other batsman in New York—F. J. Prendergast, who twice scored 124. The averages follow: BATTING

TIGERS READY FOR GRIDIRON. FOOTBALL AT COLUMBIA: Palmer Will Play Again and Prospects

Team Are Brighter. PRINCETON, Sept. 16.-The football season at Princeton University will begin in earnest to-morrow afternoon, when the candidates report at Osborn Field for the first regular practice. Nearly all the available veterans and substitutes of last year's team have reported. With only a few exceptions Trainer Robinson finds the players in first-class condition to begin work on the field. Most of the candidates have spent the last week or two toying with the pigskins which were given to them last June. and will appear in uniform to-morrow with the rough edges already well worn off.

Several developments during the past week rive a much brighter aspect to the outlook for the season than prevailed a week ago. Word has been received from Palmer, end on last year's team, that he will return to college this fall.

the season than prevailed a week ago. Word has been received from Palmer, end on last year's team, that he will return to college this fail. Although a place was not given Palmer on the Ali-American team by the authorities, he played as plucky and consistent a game during the entire season as his running mate. Poe, and his return will be a tower of strength to the Tigers' weakened line. With the left end cared for there is little doubt that a suitable man can be found for Arthur Poe's old place. Roper earned a place as substitute end in the Yale game last year after a hard season's work on the scrub, but he was continually handicapped by poor health. He is in good condition this fail, however, and, if he is able to follow the play as closely as he did last season, he will be entitled to the call for the vacant end, although Gresham Poe and Little will always be within hailing distance, should their services be needed.

The uneasiness which has been felt here for the last few days on account of the report that Quarter Back Hutchinson was liable not to return was dispelled when it was learned that Charlle Young, who captained the Cornell eleven for several years, would be out for the team. Young was a student at the Theological seminary here last year, and although he was not elizible to play on the team on account of the one-year residence rule, his efforts on the scrub were untiring. Should Hutchinson return or Duncan show any marked ability in passing the ball, it is not improbable that Young will be tried behind the line. He is a trifle light, but his ability to hug his interference and gain in a broken field offsets this objection. He is also a clever drop-kicker, and if he plays will be Princeton's mainstay in this respect.

Another encouraging piece of news is that "Biffy" Lea, the coach of last year's team, who has signed with the University of Michigan this fall, will spend some time here before entering upon his duties in the West Lea was one of the best tackles that ever represented the Orange and Blac

Model Yacht Racing.

The members of the New York Model Yacht Club njoyed good sport yesterday off the clubhouse at Steinway. The course was half a mile. In a match race, best two in three heats, the Vim beat the Sinner after two well-contested heats. Then came another match race between the Rippie and Foam. The latter won two heats. A race for a club prize between the Hoodoo, Foam, Ripple and Swan was won by the closed their season's racing off Newport. There may be one or two more match races, but the season proper came to an end yesterday. While at Newport the boats sailed fifty-eight races, as compared with sixty-eight last season twenty of the number being cup races. Not only have owners of the boats offered cups, but women and men of the summer colony, who have taken a great interest in the little racers. The Wa Wa, sailed by Reginald Brooks, finished the season the champiop, and she takes the Paget Average cup, won last year by the Carolina. She has been sailed in all her races by her owner, and finishes the season with thirty-three winning pennants. She has missed only four races, and her nearest rival is the Dorothy. The record of the boats follows.

There being little or no wind yesterday, the annual fall regatta of the Hudson River Yacht Club was postponed by the Regatta Committee after the score or more competing boats had drifted aimlessly about for several hours. Another attempt will be made on Sept. 30.

Sept. 30.

The Canarsie Yacht Club had a race for yawis Saturday afternoon for the championship of the club. Eight boats started, and No. 1, sailed by Joseph Harris, won by ten seconds. Albert Phillips was second. George Johnson third. Lon Seaman fourth and Waiter Havenport fifth. The boats sailed by John Davenport, Foster Davenport and Nathaniel Baldwin were disabled and did not finish.

disabled and did not finish.

A well-contested race was sailed on Jamaica Bay yesterday between the crack sharple Bill Nye of the Old Mill Yacht Club, sailed by August Eberhardt, and the Quontuck Bay champion from Quogue, the Spray, owned and sailed by De V. A. Keeler of Quogue. The race was sailed over a triangular course eighteen miles long. The Spray finished first, but as she had to allow 3 minutes and 30 seconds to the Bill Nye, the latter won by 28 seconds.

The clusture receive of the won by 28 seconds.

The closing regatta of the season of the Canarsie Yacht Club was held yesterday off the clubbouse at Sands Point. The races were for boats in three classes—cabin catboats, open catboats over twenty feet, and open catboats under twenty feet. The course was a triangular one about ten miles long. The larger boats went over it twice and the smaller craft one. In the first class the Irene won, in the second the Aurora won, and in the third Scat finished in the lead.

The new one-design class of knockabouts of the Marine and Field Club salled on Saturday in Gravesend Bay, off the clubhouse of the organization. The race was the first of a series for a trophy presented by Harry T. Wresks. Four boats started the Kelple, W. K. Brown, Quinque, Smith and Hilliard, Flying Fox. Buckman and Cone, and Sweetheart, F. P. Fiske. The Flying Fox was rapidly gaining on the leader when she broke her forestay and was towed ashore. The first round found the Kelple and Sweetheart ahead of the Quinque, and in the third round the Quinque withdrew. The Kelple won by good windward work.

The closing event of the Hempstead Bay Yacht Club season, the open regatta, was decided off the clubhouse on Elder Island. Hempstead Bay. A strong south-asterly wind sent the yachts over the course in good time. The new boat Dorothy, owned by the Southard Brothers, won in her class. The winners were: Sloops, Van Wick's Edice, first, Dr. J. Hutchinson's Quo Vadis, second; W. P. Mille's Eleanor, third. First-class catboats—C. H. Southard's Dorothy, first; C. but already two or three exceptional candidates have appeared, and there is promise of a new lot of men joining the squad this week. Of the new men Edwards, Daly, Boehm, Rogers and Ashley have shown the best form. Boehm seems to be the needed man at quarter back, as he has been playing the position like a veteran. Boehm has had some experience on the interscholastic gridiron and passes and turns with dexterity and accuracy. That so trained an athlete as Cornelius Daly has appeared as a candidate for full back is also regarded as a piece of good fortune for the local team. Daly showed last week that he is good for a forty-five yards straightaway punt. His four years' experience on the Worcester High School team is an advantage to him, as was shown by his dodging and line bucking against the first scrubs with Sanford himself in their line. Powerful physique and some speed will serve him well in changing his play from tackle, his former position, to full back. Daly was a member of the Wachusetts four, cap-

One week of preliminary practice has shown promise of a strong football eleven at Columbia University this year. At the beginning of the week Coach Sanford, after inspecting the green material, remarked that he was afraid that he would have to rely almost entirely on the veterans of last year to build up the 1900 team, tackle, his former position, to full back. Daly was a member of the Wachusetts four, captained by E. H. Ten Eyek. It is intended to make him useful at half back also if a substitution should become necessary. E. J. Edwards seems to fit in the place left vacant by the graduation of Longacre.

The end positions are still open to competition, though ashley seems to be corralling one. Regers, the new half back from "Poly" will be a valuable man, but cannot push Morley and Weekes for their positions.

A 220-pounder by the name of Murphy, who will enter the university law school this year, tsurprised the squad on Saturday by announcing his intention to try for centre rush. He will have hard work to displace Jack Wright, but as a guard may have things his own way. Austin and Irving, both heavy men, are also looking for centre, which seems to point to a beefy Columbia line with Capt. Simons, Morley, Weekes, Boehm, Denman and Daly to take care of the back field.

Other promising men are Boyesen, formerly quarter back on the St. Paul team; Hardenbergh, late captain of the Collegiate School eleven, as all the veterans have not returned, and some promising material is yet to be heard from, as all the veterans have not returned, and some promising material is yet to be heard from, as all the veterans have not returned, and some promising material is yet to be heard from, as all the veterans have not returned, and some promising material is yet to be heard from. Practice so far has been light. Squads have been formed for punting, putting the ball into play, falling and passing, but no tackling or plunging has yet been attempted. Running of the backs and kicking between the posts from the 15-yard line have received special notice.

All the candidates are well with the excep-notice. All the candidates are well with the excep-tions of Van Hoevenberg and Austin, who have been troubled by the heat, Rogers, whose ankle was turned and English, whose sprained finger is still bothering him. To-day, Sanford will rig up a tackling dummy and two periods of dally practice will be in-augurated.

THE KICKERS OF VALE. Uniforms Ordered for Thirty Players-Strong

Coaching Brigade. NEW HAVEN, Sept. 16 .- The Yale football nanagers have been busy making big preparations for the training of the team which will begin to-morrow. Manager Hixon and Assistant Manager Francis have ordered uniforms and arranged for quarters for thirty players. These will all be veterans of last year's team and men who have had more or less experience on the gridiron. The green material will not arrive until later. Last spring it was expected that by the opening of the football season the new dining quarters of the Yale athletic teams in an annex to the University Club would be ready for use, but it is doubtful whether it will be possible for the football team to use them this season. Training quarters have been engaged in a private house in York street. At the gymnasium about $1,500 has been spent during the summer in making improvements for the benefit of the football team. Six needle baths have been added to the quarters of the football men and fourteen artesian wells have been sunk in order football team. Six needle baths have been added to the quarters of the football men and fourteen artessian wells have been sunk in order to furnish water for these baths.

It has been announced in regard to the coaching that Vance McCormick, '93 S, the captain of the '92 eleven, will be here to begin the season with M. L. McBride, last year's captain, as a coach. McCormick played at quarter and at full back. McCormick was a clever player during his college days, but has not kept very closely in touch with football since he graduated. It is also announced that W. W. Heffelfinger, '91 S, Yale's most famous guard, will give considerable time to the coaching this fall. Heffelfinger is one of the most effective rush-line coaches that Yale has. He is especially effective because he always puts on his old uniform and goes into the rush-line and does his teaching by action and not by words. Aithough he has been out of college almost ten years, Heffelfinger is still as much of an athlete as he was when at the height of his fame at Yale.

The statement that Frank Hinkey will not be here. Hinkey always has been busy and always feels too busy to devote any time to football until the season begins. Then his football blood begins to tingle and sooner or later he comes to New Haven, takes off his coat and works harder than any other man to make Yale win. Hinkey can't keep away from the Yale football field, and Yale men are glad off it. He knows as much football as any man, and as a coach is a wonder. He has little to say, but he has a personal magnetism that makes the elever football field, and Yale men are glad off it. He knows as much football as any man, and as a coach is a wonder.
